Cappuro.
E. D. Cappuro of Fall River, Mass., who has been employed in the Western Union office as operator since August 1, until his sickness, died in Brightlook hospital of tuberculosis, Nov. 17. Mr. Cappuro was a very faithful worker and was about 20 years old and unmarried. He is survived by one half brother. Before he came to St. Johnsbury he had been in the Middlebury sanitarium for some time. His remains were sent to Fall River for burial.

Alston.

Alexander G. Alston died Sunday at St. Johnsbury hospital where he had been ill for seven weeks. He had suffered for three years from a cancer and during that time had undergone several operations. He was a great sufferer especially at the last and his end came as a merciful release. He was born in Crafts-bury, Feb. 17, 1849 and spent his youth in that town. After that he lived in different places but for between 12 and 13 years had made his home in Danville. On April 9, 1870 he was married at Stannard to Eliza Bean of Wheelock. Mrs. Alston died last January and in July Mr. Alston moved here to reside with his son, E. G. Alston. While living in Harvey Mr. Alston kept a store and formed a wide circle of friends, who regretted his closing out his business there and moving here. He was a member of the Methodist church at Danville all the time he lived there, holding the office of Sunday school superintendent at one time and taking a great interest in all church affairs. It was appropriate that his funeral should be held from the church, on Tuesday afternoon at one o'clock, Rev. A. B. Enright officiating, and the interment was in the cemetery at Danville.

W. A. RICKER.

Married at St. Aloysius.

There was a pretty wedding at nine o'clock Monday morning at St. Aloysius church when Miss Eva Racine, who has been a popular clerk at the store of E. N. Randall, was married to Edmond J. Dunn.

The organist, Miss Lillian Ryan, played the wedding chorus from Lo-hengrin as the wedding party came up the aisle: the groom and his best man, William H. Racine, brother of the bride, and the bride on the arm of her brother-in-law, Henry Brady, who gave her away. The bride wore white messaline and her veil was caught with white rosebuds, the same flower which she carried in her bouquet. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. J. Leonard in the presence of a large company of friends of the bridal couple. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brady, only intimate friends and relatives and Father Leonard being present. Mr. and Mrs. Dunn received many beautiful gifts of cut glass, silver, china, linen, pictures and furniture. The bride's associates in Randall's store gave her a chaffing dish. They took the afternoon train for Montreal and points in northern Vermont. Mrs. Dunn's traveling suit was green with a green and white hat. They will be at home after December 1 at 1 Washington avenue. Mr. Dunn is employed by the A. H. McLeod Milling Co. Guests from out of town included Mr. and Mrs. William Bombard of Malone, N. Y.
